A GAME BETWEEN PITCHERS

The Costly Clarkson and His Team Shut Out by the Indianapolis Players.

Brilliant Fielding on Both Sides with an Excited Crowd Threatening Umpire Decker -A Contest Difficult to Repeat.

The high degree of excitement to which a browd of spectators at a ball game can be expreised was strikingly illustrated yesterday on the Indianapolis grounds. The interest was more or less intense all through the game, but the climax occurred in the last half of the ninth inning. At that time the score stood one to nothing in favor of the home team. The battle splendidly fought throughat this last stage of the have easiest thing in the world for the visiting team to overcome the very small lead which the home club had succeeded in obtaining. To make matters look more gloomy, Boston's strongest batters were to face Boyle. Kelly was to lead off, to be followed by such men as Wise, Nash and Morrill. It was natural, therefore, that the faces of the crowd should not all smiles; and when Kelly took up his hat and walked to the plate with a face glowing with excitement, it was quite a sight to take a glance at the 1,500 people, many of them ladies, who sat in the grand stand with heads leaning forward, watching almost breathlessly every movement of the men in uniform upon the field before them.

The game supplants previous records, and becomes the best of the season events up to date. It was better than the one to nothing contest with Detroit, for the very apparent reason that the one run in that game lodged on the wrong side of the official score-book. Then there were some other features in which it was better. The Bostons came nearer making runs yesterday than the home team did in the Detroit game, and Indianapolis was deprived of other runs only by some splendid fielding and pitching. It would be difficult to pick out the individuals participating in the contest who most distinguished themselves. Perhaps Boyle, Clarkson, Nash, Esterbrook, Kelley and Myers should be assigned to the front row, umpire Decker allotted to the second, and the rest of both teams arranged in the third, while several noisy occupants of the "bleachers" can be stationed in the fourth place, where there will be no danger of their getting at the umpire. Boyle's pitching was slightly better than Clarkson's, although the latter did exceptional work, for the reason that two of the visitors' hits were scratches, while the home players sent more hard drives to the Boston fielders. Nash, at third, did splendid work, and stopped one cannon-ball bounder from McGeachy's bat Kelly also caught well and directed Clarkson where to witch, besides offering the umpire advice when ever he saw occsion to do so. Capt. Morrill alno played a good game at first base, and there was not, in fact, a bad fielding play on either side. For the home team the good work was well divided. Besides his pitching. Boyle fielded well in his position, stopping one particularly bad drive from Kelly's Esterbrook, on first, did fine work and was heartily applauded. He made several difficult foul-fly catches and fielded well in every way. Bassett, Glasscock and Denny did what they had a chance to do like clock-

Decker had one of the most difficult games to ampire that ever fell to the lot of his muchclass, and, with the exception of last inning, he did his work well. He had, however, to contend against the reputation of his bad work on Saturday and, as a consequence, received abuse when he did not deserve it. For example, a section of the crowd hissed bim in the seventh inning when he called Hines out at second base. Boyle had reached first on an error by Hornung, and Hiner followed, with a base on balls. There were two outs, and Glasscock followed with a sharp drive toward second. Wise knocked the ball down and it rolled a short distance away, but Burdock grabbed it and touched second before Hines reached the base. Nevertheless. Decker was denounced for calling Hines out. In the eighth inning, however, Decker was clearly wrong in depriving Seery of a base on balls. A portion of the bleachers did themselves no credit early in the game in denouncing Decker, who was doing fairly good work at least, and this was not liable to put him in a humor for giving the home team any favors in the ninth inning.

work, and the last-named has the credit of scoring the winning run.

Hines and Denny struck out in the first inning and Glasscock was thrown out in fine style by Nash. The Bostons were also retired with-out much effort, although Wise got in a hit after he had made two bad efforts to hit the ball. Nash's drive to Bassett, however, resulted in a double play.

In the second the home players secured two hits and a stolen base but made no runs. Seery, the first batter, caught a slow curve on the end of his bat and dropped it in a safe place over second base. Bassett lat one nice ball go over the plate in order to give Seery a chance to steal, but the latter waited for the sec-ond one, and then got a bad As a consequence he was thrown out, Kelly sending the ball very accurately to Burdock. After Bassett had been retired Esterbrook sent a liner against the left field fence, but could only get one base on the play. He stole second, however, by grace of Kelly's wide throw, but was left by McGeachy. Boston was easily retired in this inning, not being able to do anything with Boyle. In the third the home team made its run. Boyle and Myers had been retired, when Hines and Glasscock secured bases on balls. Denny followed with a two-bagger, sending Hines in, and Seery came within an ace of sending two more in, as he hit the ball hard, but Clarkson knocked it down with his left hand and threw Boyle opened the fifth with a fine two-bagger down the left foul line. Hines was thrown out by Burdock, and then the next two batters struck out, leaving Boyle on third. Morrili opened the last half of this inning with a pretty hit, and then Hornung got in a miserable scratch hit. To add to the trouble. Myers misunderstood one of Boyle's signs and had a passed ball, which put the runners on second and third, with no one out. It looked blue for Indianspolis, but Boyle proved equal to the emergency. Brilliant pitching and equally brilliant fielding were what pulled the home team out of the difheulty. Johnson sent a foul toward the north benches, which Denny took in good style, Brown foult-tipped and Burdock cent up a high foul, which Myers got near the grand stand. The enthusiasm which greeted the end of the inning was very marked. In the sixth Wise got a hit, but was thrown out at second. In the seventh the Bostons got past first base for the second time. After one out Morrill got a lucky hit, went to second on a sacrifice, and to third on Myers's bad throw to catch him napping, but Seery captured Johnson's fly near

At last the ninth inning was reached, and Kelly walked up to the bat. Boyle threw one a little wide, and the umpire said, "One ball." He then sent in an inshoot. Kelly started to strike at it, and then tried to draw back, and as he did so the bat and ball met and the latter bounded way toward third, and was thrown to first. Kelly shrewdly claimed that he was doing nothing but trying to dodge the ball, and the ampire, who seemed to be on the (point of callng him out, then shook his head and said dead ball. Whatever else may be said of Decker he thereby exhibited a bit of bravery which will never be surpassed. The decision was wrong, without a doubt, and under such circumstances few umpires would have been brave enough to have made the decision, even though they were convinced it was right.

Decker showed that he was undecided about the matter, but he was not afraid to give the doubt which he seemed to entertain in favor of the batter. The crowd did nothing but hiss and shout "robber," "thief," etc., but had Kelly reached first base there might have trouble. As it was, Boyle him four balls before he had a strike, and then put three straight over the plate. Kelly let the first two go and batted the third one toward Bassett, who threw him out at first. Wise, however, made a slashing two-bagger to left field, and Nash drove a feeble grounder to the infield, which looked almost like a hit, but Glasscock sent it unerringly to first, making two outs, with Wise on third. Captain Morrill, the best emergency batter in the team, was next to the bat, but it was "one ball," "one strike," "two balls," "two strikes," "three balls," "three strikes" and ont! Morrill struck at all three of them, the last onebeing an ugly in-shoot. The score was:

PHILDELPHIA, 4; CHICAGO, 1. CHICAGO, May 21 .- The Philadelphias scored a victory, to-day, in a game characterized by light hitting and good fielding. In the second inning Mulvey was given his base on balls, and Farrar then hit the ball over the fence for a home-run, thereby winning and earning the game, as one run was all the Chicagos could score in the game. Both pitchers were too much for the opposing batters. Casey struck Baldwin out four times. Brilliant playing was done by Pfeffer, Burns, Daly, Ryan, Clements,

The Pittsburgs played a strong game at all points, but the contest was too one-sided to be interesting. Miller, who was badly spiked by Pfeffer during the Chicago series, made his first appearance on the field since the accident, and played with all his old-time vigor. Attendance,

NEW YORK, 8; DETROIT, 7. DETROIT, May 21 .- Both Conway and Keefe were hit hard and often to-day. The former had but litte command of the ball, sending four of the Giants to first on balls, two of whom scored. Conway and Cleveland knocked the ball over the left field fence for home runs, the latter making the winning run. The champions had two men on bases in the ninth and only one man out, but Bennett hit to Ward and a double play was made. Ward's batting and base-running, and Hanlon's catch of a long drive

THE CHURCH CONVENTIONS

Dunkard Delegates Nearly All Present and Ready for the Business Sessions.

Active Lobbying Among Methodists in tho Interest of the Candidates for the Bishopric-The Presbyterian Assembly.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

Wabash, Ind., May 21.-There was a great influx of Dunkards to-day from all parts of the West to their annual meeting at North Manchester, and to-night most of the delegates are on hand ready for the business sessions, which will begin to-morrow. It is estimated that the attendance of visiting Dunkards will not fall below 10,000, though no register is kept, and there is no way to get at the exact number. Those present represent every State in the Union except California and Oregon; but the attendance is hardly up to the usual standard, owing to the financial tightening up in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, and other Western States. The number of delegates is between three and four hundred, and are appointed one to each church having a membership of 150 or less, and two from each church having over that number. The membership of the Old Order Church in the vicinity of North Manchester is quite large, and it is estimated that fully one hundred from this vicinity are now in attendance upon their annual meeting in Illinois. The total membership of that order does not exceed 5,000, while the branch holding its meeting here has a membership of over one hundred thousand.

The monotony of the services this morning was relieved by the singing of a solo by Rev. Oliver Yout, of Tippecanoe City. O., who has a fine voice and handles it with very good effect. The congregational singing of old-fashioned hymns is slow and methodical, and not calculated to arouse religious fervor. The sermon this morning was delivered by Rev. John M. Mohler, of Lewistown Pa. and was followed by Mohler, of Lewistown, Pa., and was followed by an address by Elder John Foraly, of Abilene, Kan., who is one of the oldest men of the church. Rev. Oliver Yout spoke this afternoon, and this evening there was speaking by Elder Jno. L. Wyse, of Conway Springs, Kan. All of the preaching is without notes, and the speakers often grow quite eloquent. Many of the breth-ren from a distance had not learned of the sudden death of Elder Quinter when they arrived on the grounds.

Loobying Among the Methodists. New York, May 21.-To-day's session of the General Methodist Conference was presided over by Bishop Walden. Dr. Paine, of Ohio, of the committee on education, presented a report in reference to removing the discriminations now existing against the students of the conference schools as set forth in the memorial of the New England conference, which report was adverse to the memorials. The report provoked some discussion, but it was finally adopted.

The committee on ecumencial council reported a resolution in connection with the coming ecumencial conference which recommended that each annual conference should send two clerical and two lay delegates.

Dr. Walsh offered as an amendment that the delegation consist of but two representatives, instead of four. Adopted, and the report as thus amended was passed.

Then came up the question as to where the money was to come from to meet the expenses of delegates to this conference. Dr. Hunt offered a resolution that the General Conference should not incur any expense in connection with the ecumencial counci

Dr. Smart, who is the guardian of the funds of the Methodist Book Concern, then arose and wanted to know where the money was to come from. He declared that not one penny of the Book Concern fund could be used, and if it was done, it would simply be misappropriating its funds and only be a dishonest transaction. His remarks were loudly applauded, and the resolution of Dr. Hunt was adopted.

The committee on episcopacy then, through Dr. Lanahan, reported the order of election, and recommended that all the nominations for offices except bishops should be made in open conference, without comment. Bishops will be first elected, then agents of the Book Concern, then secretaries and editors. The report was adopted.

The committee on missions presented a re-port recommending the election of a mission-ary bishop for India and Malaysia. The inevitable discussion was precipitated, and Dr. Flood came to the rescue by offering a motion, which was passed, and made the consideration of the report the order of the day for immediately after reading the journal.

While all this was going on the members were leaving their seats and congregating in the lobby. The electioneering for to-morrow's vote for bishops was in order, and it was learned that in opposition to the methods of other years, printed ballots have already been prepared containing the names of five candidates. It is an open secret that the name of Dr. J. H. Vincent is on all these tickets, and his eletion is a foregone conclusion. Doctors Thorburn, Neely. Kynett and Spencer are also mentioned as prob-able successful candidates. While discussing the missionary bishop for India matter the time expired and Bishop Walden declared the session adjourned.

Dr. Woodrow Defends Himself. BALTIMORE, May 21 .- The General As of the Southern Presbyterian Church met this morning. The announcement that the complaint of Rev. Dr. James Woodrow against the action of the Synod of Georgia, in sanctioning his removal , from theological institute because of his ideas on evolution, attracted a large gathering. Rev. Dr. Smoot offered a resolution that the proposition adopted on Saturday to appoint a committee on temperance was meant to formulate the views of the church on the subject of temperance, and not to have any political prohibition effect.

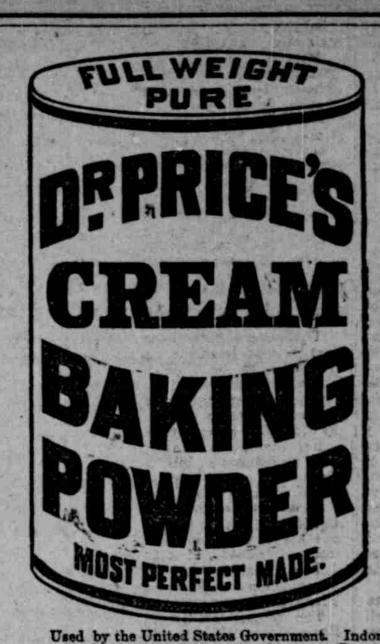

Rev. Dr. Brooke wished the resolution amended so as to refer to liquor alone, and so made a motion. The amendment was adopted. and the resolution as amended was adopted. The order of the day, the complaint of Dr. James Woodrow, was then taken up, and it was agreed to grant four hours to each side. The record of the case from the Synod of Georgia was then read, covering the entire proceedings of condemnation, in all about ten thousand words. Rev. Dr. Woodrow then presented his case before the General Assembly, first stating the nature of the offense charged against him. The testimony of Doctor Adams, his proscutor, showed himself to be deeply interested in securing his conviction, so as to remove him from his position in the theological seminary, while he remained there as a director. Doctor Adams was not prompted by his sincerity for the good of the church, but solely to eject the speaker. He said Dr. Woodrow was good enough to preach to the people, but not to remain in the seminary. He was willing to permit any views held by the speaker outside of the seminary. The views of Dr. Adams were entirely different when thinking and speaking. He then took up the indictment, declaring that it was deficient. Under the old law it might hold good, but not under the new law. The offense charged had no place under the present law. The charge was violating the standards of the church because of views on evolution having a dangerous tendency to the church. He charged Rev. Dr. Adams, his prosecutor, with having had an emissary to go from lobby to lobby in the church bodies to encompass the ruin of the accused. He said that he did not know that the hypothesis of Dr. Woodrow was the same as that of those who use it for infidel purposes. He denounced su h conduct as unworthy of any true believer in the Bible. Dr. Woodrow then read the judgment of the Synod of Georgia annulling the verdict of the Presby-tery of Augusts, which acquitted him, and began his opening statement. He said he had been charged with holding doctrines which he At this stage of the proceedings, and before Dr. Woodrow had more than entered upon his address to the General Assembly, there was an

the Diocese of Pennsylvania, and another from the General Synod of the Reformed Churche On motion of Dr. Herrick Johnson, the report of the committee on the question of organic union with the Southern church was made the second order of the day for Friday, May 25, the day following the joint centenary meeting of the two assemblies in this city. Rev. Charles A. Dickey, D. D., of Philadel-phia, read the report of the standing committee on missions for freedmen. It shows receipts from the churches amounting to $131,653, a gain of $35,131 ever the preceding year, in addition to personal contributions from colored people of over $25,000. The report showed a very satisfactory condition of the work among the freed-

The secretary of the freedmen's committee, Rev. H. H. Allen, D. D., spoke eloquently in behalf of the colored race, and was followed by Rev. W. R. Bingham, D. D. The report of the standing committee was accepted. A recess until 2:30 P. M. was then taken.

Governor Beaver presided at the afternoon session, and opened the proceedings with The report of the Board of Education was considered, and Dr. Baker, of the board, appealed for more funds, saying it was a shame that the board had been compelled to turn away twenty-six persons who were anxious to study for the ministry, last year, because there was no money for the purpose. It was voted to raise a special collection for theological students on the first day of October next. The following telegram was sent to the General Assembly at Baltimore, in response to the salutation received from that body this morn-The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America to the General Assembly of the United States, greeting: We salute you in the bonds of a common history and common service. We rejoice in your prosperity and pray that you may abound more perity, and pray that you may abound more and more. We anticipate with peculiar pleasure our fellowship with you on our coming centennial day. Now the God of Peace that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, the great Shepherd of the sheep, through His blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work, to do His will, working in you that which is well pleasing in His sight, through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen. Judge C. E. Waldo, of Colorado, of the standing committee of the Board of Church Erection, read the report of that committee. It showed that the work of church erection was steadily

Elder Chas. Geddes, of San Francisco, made a very vigorous speech, in which he advocated the establishment of a chair of "sytematic be-neficence" in the theological seminaries. Preachers, he said, need to be educated in the art of raising collections. His remarks stirred up the assembly, who applauded everything he said in his earnest fashion.

Adjourned till to-morrow. Baptist Missions. WASHINGTON, May 21 .- The seventy-fourth annual meeting of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Baptist Church began here to-day. Hon. Geo. A. Pillabury, of Minneapolis, presided. The report of the executive committee, pre-eign secretary, showed that the work is in a prosperous condition. At the evening session Rev. H. C. Mabie, D. D., of St. Paul, addressed

Making a List of Salcons. At the regular session of the Police Board, held yesterday afternoon, special police powers were granted to the following persons: T. E. Hall and T. Ladans, work-house; Willis Thompson, Orphan Asylum; John Itterback and R. Evenderger, St. Mary's Church, and Thomas Earrett, Woman's Reformatory. The superintendent was instructed to notify the sergeants to make a list of each saloon in their respective districts, and designate those who obeyed the law, those who did not, and those who habitually attempted to violate it. The captains were instructed to revise the reports made to the sergeants, and also to made a report of their own. The reports will be submitted to the board at its first meeting in June.

Musprier Acquitted. Carey Smith, an old soldier, who for many years was dependent on Jefferson county, in 1884 secured a pension, the amount due him from the government being $1,008, nearly onehalf of which it was charged he gave to Francis M. Musprier, of Clark county. Musprier acted as his agent and the government indicted him for exacting exorbitant fees. Yesterday the defendant was tried in the United States District Court, but the jury returned a verdict in favor of Musprier. It appears that he had settled with his client in 1886, and that the offense complained of was barred by the lapse of time. Other cases against Musprier will be nollied.

Examinations in Physical Training. The annual examination in physical training of the three lower departments of the Girls' Classical School will be held this morning, in the school gymnasium, taginning at 9 o'clock. The examination of the girls of the advanced department, and the competition for the annual prizes will be held to-morrow morning, begin-ning at 9 o'clock. Patrons and friends of the school and ladies who are especially interested in physical training, are invited to be present.
